ISHII SAYS JAPAN WILL NOT PRESS CLAIM NOW

Racial Equality Point. He Tells Assembly Will Be Deferred

PLEDGES LOYALTY

China's Damage Claims Against Germany Are Refused

(Reuter's Service)
Geneva, Nov. 30.—Before the Assembly of the League of Nations today, Signor Ferraris read the report of the First Commission on General Organization.

Viscount Ishii (Japan) offered some observations on the subject of the annual meetings of the Assembly. He pointed out that it took seven weeks to reach Europe from Japan, aside from which fact the Japanese delegation had been obliged by the present difficulties of ocean travel to utilize a special vessel for their journey to Europe.

However, Viscount Ishii, after declaring that Japan was firmly determined to respect her international obligations at all times, stated that he would accept the decision of the Assembly.

JAPANESE DEMAND EQUALITY

Continuing, Viscount Ishii announced that he would seize this favorable opportunity of returning to the question of the equality of all under the law without regard to nationality, race or religion. For, he said, "the Japanese Government and people have been not a little affected by the fact that they have not been able to secure recognition of equality in the Covenant."

Viscount Ishii's speech ended. On the 1st of December, the respondent of the Osaka Mainichi has wired the following report of Viscount Ishii's important statement on the racial equality question before the First Commission of the League of Nations Assembly yesterday:

"Japan is prepared to make the necessary sacrifices, being firmly convinced that the League is the most effective endeavor to usher in a new age of peace. Japan is second to none in wishing success to the League, because its doctrine is that policies of aggressive ambition should cease, and that harmonious co-existence and equal treatment of all men should prevail."

"Japan had an opportunity when the Covenant was formulated to declare her firm belief that equality before the law should be assured to all men, irrespective of nationality, race or religion, and that this principle should be established so that mankind should be emancipated and given free play in human civilization, that all nationalities owing allegiance to the League should be loyally willing to make a sacrifice of blood and treasure when occasion arises, that all should know that the League exists unflinchingly for right not might, that lasting peace may be doubly assured."

"It was the poignant regret of the Japanese Government and people that the original framers of the Covenant found themselves unable to accept this proposal of the Japanese delegates, and the latter have declared that they will unflinchingly continue their efforts to secure the future adoption of their demands by the League."

"However, in view of the present circumstances, Japan is strongly persuaded that the League is still in the stage where consolidation of organization and of actual working, based upon the present Covenant, should be accorded greater attention and deeper deliberation than questions relating to a fundamental principle which might involve revision of the Covenant and the deliberation of which should be deferred for some time."

"From this point of view, Japan will not make a concrete proposal at this Assembly concerning the questions of equal opportunity and treatment, and will patiently abide her time until an opportune moment arrives."

A Paris telegram to the Sin Wan Pao states that the peace conference has decided to strike out the claim filed by China against Germany for damages done during the war on the ground that she refused to sign the German Treaty of Peace.

Jewish Community Gives To Zionist Funds When Emissary Speaks Here

Contributions Are Made To Restore Palestine £6,000, $1,600 And Tls. 300; Mr. Israel Cohen Delivers Address To Meeting Of 300 At Palace

More than 300 members of the Jewish community of Shanghai welcomed Mr. Israel Cohen, Jewish emissary who is on a tour of the Far East and arrived in Shanghai from Hongkong recently, at a meeting held at the Palace Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Edward I. Ezra, a leading member of the Shanghai Zionist organization, presided and introduced Mr. Cohen who was the speaker of the afternoon.

A feature of this initial gathering to welcome to Shanghai the Zionist representative was a lavish outpouring of subscriptions to the fund being raised by Zionists. At the meeting something over £6,000, $1,600 and Tels. 300 were subscribed for the fund.

Judge Charles S. Lobingier, who was a guest, was one of the speakers. In referring to him the Chairman spoke of the interest Judge Lobingier had taken in Zionist affairs, saying that his name had been inscribed in The Golden Book of the New Zion at Jerusalem and in his brief response Judge Lobingier expressed appreciation of this honor that had been conferred upon him. Mr. P. Toledano, a leading figure of the Italian community also was a speaker.

MR. COHEN SPEAKS

Mr. Cohen, addressing the gathering, said that he had traveled across half the globe from the capital of the British Empire, first to explain the significance of the decision of the peace conference respecting the future of Palestine; second, to strengthen the Zionist movement in the remote parts of the British Empire; and third, to raise funds for carrying on the great work of the reconstruction of Palestine by the Jewish people.

The cause that had brought him must appeal not only to Jewish people, but to all the civilized peoples of the world.

During the last 2,000 years Palestine had gone through various vicissitudes, and had passed from one yoke to another. Seven crusades had gone forth to rescue it from the infidel, but all were doomed to failure. At last it had been left to the great power of Britain to win back from the tyrannous rule of the Turk that ancient land for the forces of civilization.

Mr. Palestine had not been rescued and redeemed by Great Britain they would not be there for the purpose of considering the future welfare and destiny of the Holy Land. It was of the highest significance that the victory of the Allied Powers in Palestine was the very first signal victory which did attend their arms in their terrific conflict with the Central Powers. After that, victory spread from one field to another until the enemy was beaten back completely.

THE ZIONIST MOVEMENT

Speaking of the recent history of the Zionist movement, Mr. Cohen said that as early as November, 1917, Mr. Balfour, then Foreign Secretary, wrote to Lord Rothschild stating that the British Government viewed with favor the establishment of a Jewish National Home at Palestine and would use its best endeavor to accomplish that great object. That was not Mr. Balfour's personal opinion, but represented the considered and deliberated policy of the British Government after wide consultation.

When this memorable letter was made known, the Jewish people knew that, being "a scrap of paper," which bore the signature of the British Empire, it would be honored to the full. That declaration was afterwards endorsed by all the other leading Powers without exception.

MILLIONS WERE IMPRESSED

Mr. Cohen described the very profound impression this document had made among the teeming millions of Jews doomed to live in lands of oppression and outrage, many of whom during the war were wedged in the "valley of slaughter" between the Berlin, Nov. 30.—The German Government, replying to the Entente's note which demanded the immediate dismissal of the German commander at Cuxhaven and the publication of his sentence in the presence of the four entente officers who were molested at Cuxhaven by German soldiers, promises the punishment of the culprit.

It states, however, that so far the guilt of the commander has not been proven, while his dismissal in the presence of foreign officers is incompatible with the German conception of etiquette.

British Dominions Are Asked To Bar Asiatics

(Reuter's Service)
Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—Addressing the Union League Club, Senator Lodge, the Republican leader in the Upper House, dwelling on international problems which confront the new Government, said there was one arrangement he would very much like to make with Canada, Australia and New Zealand, namely, as regards Asiatic immigration. Their danger was the same as that of the United States, and it must be faced.

It might as well be understood, he said, that their attitude was in no sense one of hostility to any nation, but there were certain great principles which must be accepted. One of these was that no nation had the right to demand that her people migrate to another free country, nor should they find cause for war in such a demand. The first sovereign right of a state was to say who should come into the country.

BARRICADES IN DOWNING ST. TO STOP RUSH OF SINN FEIN

Liverpool Outrages Cause Of Consternation In British Capital

CORK CITY HALL BURNS Agitators Believed To Be Planning Campaign Against Britons

(By Wireless)
Belfast, November 30.—The City Hall of Cork is on fire. It was reported that the Thomas Ashe Sinn Fein Club on Charlotte Quay also is ablaze. The damage is widespread.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 28.—The outrages at Liverpool and Bootle in which eighteen warehouses were set on fire, are regarded as the opening of a Sinn Fein attack on England. Precautions taken by the authorities have led to disclosure of the fact that the Sinn Fein plot to terrorize this country included plans to damage the Government buildings in London.

This explains the hasty erection of barricades in Downing street and another narrow thoroughfare off Whitehall wherefrom entrance might be gained to the Buildings and the Prime Minister's residence. The Houses of Parliament are also closed to the public.

Captured documents show that it was intended to use motor cars to transport bombers to the scene of action. Members of the Government and high officials have received numerous threatening letters.

The Daily News attributes the erection of the barricades in the neighborhood of Whitehall not solely to the Irish situation, but also to the possibility of labor troubles in view of the black winter outfitting season. It is reported that an attempt was made to burn the House of Commons.

A policeman on his beat encountered a man near a big timber yard at Finsbury during the night, and detained him. Suddenly he was set upon by five others and a struggle ensued in which the constable was overpowered. All of his assailants escaped save one who was subsequently captured after a half hour's chase by dozens of police who had been attracted by the comrade's whistle.

Later, detectives found paraffin-soaked cotton-wood in the timber yard and also a number of revolvers and oil-cans which, it is alleged, had been dropped by the fugitives.

The man who was arrested was brought up in the police-court today, and proved to be a student, aged 28, named Robinson. A police-inspector gave evidence to the effect that documents relating to the Irish Self-Determination League and the Gaelic League were found in his rooms. No other evidence was offered, and the accused was remanded for a week without bail.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

(Later).—It appears that the decision to close the galleries of the House of Commons was made at a meeting of Ministers at 10 Downing Street this morning, at which the Speaker, General Horwood (Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police), and Sir Basil Thompson, of Scotland Yard, were present, and the latest developments in connection with Sinn Fein activities discussed.

Apart from the closing of the galleries, of both Houses, the strictest precautions are being taken to safeguard the Houses of Parliament. The public will now be entirely excluded from their precincts except from St. Stephen's Hall, which adjoins the outer lobby, where members can interview their constituents.

Persons having business in the House, but who are unknown to the police, are being searched. Special precautions are also being taken in regard to motor traffic in Palace Yard, and a police motor-boat, armed with a machine-gun, is patrolling the River front.

Replying to Mr. Will Thorne, the Speaker said that all the galleries of the House of Commons had been closed to the public as the result of information from the Chief Commissioner of Police.

LOSSES HEAVY

London, Nov. 30.—The latest competent estimate of the loss from the warehouse fires at Liverpool places the total at £750,000.

The fire brigades fought the flames magnificently, and in most instances saved the buildings and contents.

Chekiang, Fukien And Shensi Joining South

Marshals Little Hsu And Wang Yi-tang Said To Join Military Government

Chekiang, Fukien and Shensi provinces will join the Southwest. Marshal Tuan, who has reached a perfect understanding with Dr. Sun Yat-sen, and his lieutenants, Little Hsu and Wang Yi-tang are reported to be on their way to Fukien to complete negotiation with the Military Government.

This is the latest development in the China political muddle, according to a certain official who has been actively engaged in Peking's political field.

It is stated that General Lu Yung-hsiang, the Chekiang Tsuchun and favorite disciple of Marshal Tuan, General Li Hao-chi, the war lord of Fukien and Tsuchun Chen Shu-fang of Shensi supplied General Chen Chin-ming of Canton with munitions and huge sums of money while the Kwangtung-Kwangsi clash was on. In return for this support, the Southern Military Government, which the Constitutionalists leaders are now organizing, will welcome the three provinces into their fold as soon as negotiations for terms are complete.

OTHER PHASES
While the constitutionalist leaders have been advocating civil administration, the Southern provinces will plan to concentrate their forces against the Fengtien clique, against whom the Anfuists are bitter since their own downfall. The Chihli faction, it is said, will stand aloof as a result of the recent misunderstanding between it and Chang Tso-lin, the bandit chief of the Fengtien gang.

If the statement is true, hope for internal peace is as remote as ever and the North and the South will remain bellicose.

Peking's hasty issuance of a unification mandate and attempt to organize a reconstruction conference have given the Southern leaders a chance to declare to the world that the North is not sincere in its desire for peace. They consider the Shanghai peace conference, as the proper channel through which peace may be secured and this has been abolished. Instead, the Central Administration substitutes the reconstruction conference, which apparently only serves to prolong internal strife, the North knowing full well that stubborn men like Tang Shao-yi and Tang Chi-yao never will recognize such a conference.

NEEDED SUPPORT

The Southern leaders demanded the withdrawal of the mandate and the calling of a peace conference. Failing this, they went to Canton to set up their

Widespread Destruction Follows Mutiny Of Troops At Port On Upper Yangtze

Further Messages To Shanghai Tell Of Outbreak And Conflagration; Foreign And Chinese Business Quarters Are Destroyed

Further messages that were received in Shanghai yesterday tell that the Yangtze river city of Ichang is still the prey of the soldiers there who mutinied Monday night and inaugurated a reign of terror after looting and setting fire to the city.

It is known now that no foreign warcraft were in the immediate vicinity of Ichang when the outbreak occurred, but on orders that were issued by British and American naval officials gunboats now are proceeding to the scene with all dispatch.

The American gunboat Monocacy recently has been in the upper river and probably was the nearest warcraft to Ichang at the time of the uprising. It is expected that the Monocacy will be the first to arrive at the river port, but other American craft have started toward the city and the British gunboat Cricket was ordered to proceed up river from Hankow yesterday and the Wap left Shanghai yesterday for the Upper Yangtze.

The run from Hankow takes about two days. What measures may be taken by the commanders of the warcraft on their arrival at Ichang has not been disclosed, but it is thought that outrages being committed there by the mutinous troops will be swiftly brought to an end when the gunboats come in sight of the city.

The greater part of their contents. Yesterday, however, thousands of tons of cotton were still smouldering.

In Bootle three warehouses were gutted and buildings collapsed, containing 14,000 bales of cotton, of which 6,000 were ruined. Two six-storied warehouses blazed face to face in Jordan Street, Liverpool, and here the firemen worked between walls of flame. In one warehouse 2,000 bales were destroyed and in another 1,700 bales of cotton and several hundred bales of hides were lost.

DISCLOSES PLOTS

London, Nov. 29.—The incendiary outrages at Liverpool were indicated in this captured Sinn Fein documents which were disclosed by Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland in the House of Commons last week. In them it was clearly laid down that the attempt to wreck the docks at Liverpool would be accompanied by diversions consisting of numerous fires in cotton and other warehouses half an hour before the other operations. It is now estimated that the damage will run into millions of pounds. Thirteen thousand bales of wool were damaged in two warehouses at Bootle alone, while the damage to cotton stored in the Lifford Street area is estimated at four hundred thousand sterling. The firemen had the greatest difficulty in circumscribing the various outbreaks owing to the close manner in which properties are huddled together.

The incendiaries worked along crudely scientific lines which were clearly in accordance with a carefully arranged plan. Gangs were allotted to each building marked out for destruction. The military are now guarding the north end docks.

WIDESPREAD PLOT

Subsequent discoveries have established the fact that the incendiaries at Liverpool was due to a Sinn Fein plot to spread a holocaust over the whole docks area which extends for seven miles. The fire which occurred were spread over the whole distance. Four men have been arrested up to the present, including one who struck a policeman with a bolt-cutter.

There is no doubt that the fires were the result of a well thought out plot organised on a big scale. It is significant that nearly all the locks of the warehouses were cut with bolt-cutters, while such quantities of empty paraffin and petrol tins have been found that the police are convinced that motor cars must have been used to carry them.

It appears that several timber yards in Liverpool were also set on fire and the damage is estimated at many thousands of pounds. Several of the fires were still burning this afternoon, and neighboring fire brigades had arrived in Liverpool to assist in combating the flames.

TIMBER BURNED

In the case of one timber yard there were three separate outbreaks. In some instances the fires were quickly subdued; in others warehouses, stocked with cotton, burned furiously all night long, and finally burned themselves out.

Two policemen, hurrying to the scene, came into conflict with some of the incendiaries, who fired their revolvers. A bullet penetrated the overcoat of one of the policemen.

The civilian who was killed in connection with the outrages, was a youth who saw two men in the doorway of a cotton warehouse, setting fire to the building. He went and fetched a policeman who proceeded to arrest them. One of the incendiaries struck the officer violently with a bolt-cutter, while the second fired at him pointblank, missing him and killing the youth. The first of these men is among those arrested.

SCENES AT BOOTLE

The fire broke out simultaneously at the north and south ends of the line of docks and at Bootle and the whole Lancashire side of the Mersey was quickly ablaze. All the local fire brigades quickly arrived at the scene of the conflagration and they were subsequently reinforced by the brigades from Birkenhead, Warrington and St. Helen's.

One of the men arrested at Liverpool in connection with the warehouse fire is charged with the murder of a civilian. He admitted that he was a Sinn Feiner, and stated that he possessed a sketch of the principal places where the fires occurred. He was remanded for a week.

Replying to questions in the House of Commons today, Mr. E. Short, the Home Secretary, said the situation at Liverpool appeared to be well in hand. There seemed to be no doubt that the fires were the result of an organized conspiracy, in which members of the Sinn Fein party were engaged. The police had taken all possible precautions.

MANY ARRESTS

London, November 28.—The authorities in Ireland evidently intend to pursue with unabated thoroughness the intensified measures which they are taking to smash the revolutionary military organisation. It is stated that the whole round-up in Dublin last week resulted in three hundred arrests.

The authorities are preparing several internment camps for members of the Irish Republican Army. One is now ready at Dundrum, County Down which is capable of accommodating one thousand men in army huts, similar to those in which the prisoners of war were interned.

HEAR OF GUNMEN

London, Nov. 29.—It is reported that the military authorities at Londonderry have received information of the arrival there of a number of Irish-American gunmen. Certain officers at Londonderry have received notices, threatening them with a fate similar to that of the officers murdered at Dublin unless they leave Ireland.

The Transport Workers' Union Hall at Cork has been burned down, following upon explosions within the building.

After the ambush of auxiliaries at Kilmichael many shops in the district were burned. Large parties of armed auxiliaries are now patrolling the town as a precaution against further reprisals, but it is reported that scarcely a house within the district has escaped damage, and the terrified people are clearing out. Business is at a standstill in the neighboring town of Macroom, and all the shops are closed.

The authorities at Glasgow are making elaborate preparations against a Sinn Fein outbreak in the city. Special police guards have been posted at the docks and all public buildings, as a powerful Sinn Fein body exists in Glasgow and the Clydebank district generally. They have been frequently seen drilling in the countryside. Similar precautionary measures are being taken at Southampton to ensure the safety of the docks and vessels.

New York, Nov. 30.—An Associated Press telegram reports that the City Hall at Cork is on fire, and that the Sinn Fein club at Charlotte Quay is also ablaze. The damage will be heavy. It is also stated that the loss by fire at Cork since Friday amounts to a million and half ($1,500,000).

London, Nov. 28.—Two policemen were shot at Castlewarty, County Cork. One was killed and the other wounded.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

The ways of the metropolis are beyond understanding and full of potentialities for grief and if you don't believe it you can ask Ting Lee-pau.

Ting came visiting here a few days ago from Hangchow and while looking for contrasts and astonishing sights wandered into the Wing On store. Here he attracted the attention of an employee on the second floor by picking up a leather handbag and walking upstairs with it. On the third floor the attendant overtook Ting and had him arrested.

It all came about through his ignorance of local custom. Ting told the Court. He had never intended to steal that handbag. He wanted to buy it. But he hadn't seen any of the shop people about and so he had taken the bag and gone to the next floor searching for someone to pay the money to.

Ting will have absolutely no use for a handbag for ten days anyhow.

TEMPTUS FUGITS

The most watched man in Shanghai for a short time yesterday was a rich cooie. He had 78 of them.

The timepieces belonged to a jeweller, who was lugging them about town in a large leather case. He left the case in the rich cooie's hands when he stepped into a shop on Szechuen Road and when he emerged the obvious had happened.

The cooie was located shortly thereafter by the police and numbers of watches were found in his home. The case was remanded by the Mixed Court to permit the rounding up of more of them. No, the cooie's name is not Procrastination.

of the admission of Austria to the League, and it is probable that a unanimous invitation will be extended.

Geneva, Nov. 28.—The Military Commission of the League of Nations Assembly has passed a resolution in favor of asking the United States to collaborate informally in the study of the problem of a reduction of armaments.

New York, Nov. 29.—The Geneva correspondent of the Associated Press reports that the League of Nations Council has approved the report of the military commission, which favors limiting the armies of Bulgaria, Austria and Albania.

Bordeaux, Nov. 30 (by wireless to Koukaza).—The following is a French official report of today's proceedings of the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva: The First Commission—on General Organisation—met this morning, when Signor Ferraris (Italy) read a report on the standing orders of the Assembly. He pointed out that the Assembly can always convene an extraordinary session, but that the ordinary session will open on the third Monday of September each year.

BUDGET OF LEAGUE

The Assembly will have the same rights and powers as the Council concerning the Budget of the League. It will have all the functions in the matter of financial control that appertain to any public assembly.

Signor Ferraris announced that the Spanish-speaking delegates had consented not now to press their proposal that Spanish should be adopted as a third official language of the Assembly.

The Commission expressed its thanks to the Spanish-speaking delegates for their unselfish act of devotion to the common cause. The Commission proposed that each delegate should be enabled to use the language he preferred at the Assembly.

Signor Ferraris, in conclusion, stated that the Commission, despite the difficulties, had succeeded in establishing an organisation which was without precedent. "It will be the honor of our time," he declared, "to have founded for ever a new organisation to safeguard international law and international solidarity."

PRAISE BY BALFOUR

Mr. A. J. Balfour (British Empire) complimented Signor Ferraris on his report and congratulated the Spanish-speaking delegates on their unselfish decision.

Vicount Ishii (Japan) declared that it was a great and magnificent spectacle to see important questions of international interest daily treated by representatives from all parts of the world in a serious and conciliatory spirit. Vicount Ishii said that the Japanese delegates were generally satisfied with the Commission's decisions, in which several Japanese proposals were incorporated. He regretted that under the present conditions of travel, the annual meeting of the Assembly compelled the representatives from Japan to be away from their country for at least five months. The result was that Japan might often be compelled to select as delegates representatives already in Europe, but such an eventuality, he emphasised, must not be regarded as proof of lack of interest in the League of Nations on Japan's part.

SEES COLOSSAL TASK

Japan, concluded Vicount Ishii, had sent a large delegation to the Assembly in the desire that the Japanese people should understand their Government's profound confidence in this new attempt to develop international peace and goodwill. Japan also desired to educate the largest possible number of young men for the most colossal task that humanity had ever undertaken.

The Panama representative recalled the splendid results of Spanish foreign policy in South and Central America, a policy of peace and trade, which "opened to Spain a new world and all doors in every Spanish-speaking country."

The Panama delegate expressed the hope that the question of the adoption of Spanish as an official language of the Assembly would be favorably considered at the next session.

After observations by Mr. Rowell (Canada), Mr. Milten (Australia), Signor Restrepo

(Colombia) and Signor Velasquez (Paraguay), the First Commission adopted the report unanimously.

The Commissions will continue their labors tomorrow. A plenary session of the Assembly will be held on Thursday.

WHAT SORT OF A FLOOR HAVE YOU?

Let us have a little talk about Oak flooring. It will interest you.

Oak flooring costs only a trifle more than a high-class carpet. A carpet, no matter how good the quality may be, wears out in a few years—an oak floor will last a life-time, and longer.

Oak flooring is hygienic. It does not harbour dust and germs as does a carpet. It is easily cleaned and always looks new.

A well polished oak floor is infinitely superior in appearance to an ordinary carpet.

To install oak flooring costs from Tls. 25 to Tls. 40 per fong (100 square feet), according to the design selected.

WE SUPPLY OAK FOR FLOORING, PANELLING, WAINSCOTING, ETC.,
KILN-DRIED AND OF PRIME QUALITY

We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. We prefer to do this for you.

Insist that all lumber for flooring and panelling for interior work bears the "Three Pines" Trade Mark, and the letters "KD" signifying kiln-dried, thus ensuring its perfect quality, and suitability for the severe climatic conditions of China.

VISITING MISSION TO GIVE LECTURES

Methods Of Combating Social Evils To Be Discussed At Meetings

Arrangements are being perfected by the municipal authorities to co-operate with the medical and educational commission that will shortly visit Shanghai on the Far Eastern tour planned by the National Council for Combating Venereal Diseases under the auspices of the British government. The commission is to arrive in Shanghai early this month prior to its visit to Hongkong.

In accordance with a proposal of the Shanghai Moral Welfare Committee an advisory board to draw up a program of conferences and lectures in connection with the visit of the commission was appointed by the Municipal Council. The membership of this advisory board has been enlarged in the past week and it is now composed of the following: Dr. W. B. Billingham, Dr. J. W. Jackson, Mr. C. H. C. Platt, Dr. S. A. Ransom, Mr. F. Rawlinson, Mrs. C. F. Remer, Mr. S. Sakuragi, Judge Skinner Turner, Very Rev. C. J. Symons, Dr. E. S. Tyan and Dr. Mary Stone.

In the course of the visit of the commission methods of checking the ravages of venereal diseases are to be discussed. The prevalence and ravages of these diseases are well-known, and were recently the subject of an exhaustive investigation by a Royal Commission in England. As a result of that enquiry, the Royal Commissioners became the Executive Committee of the National Council, which is also recognised by the Ministry of Health as their Agents for certain purposes.

The Colonial office has now authorized the despatch of the commission to British Colonies in the East, to discuss with the members of the local medical faculty and the administrative authorities those practical measures which would be most likely to result in a reduction of venereal disease. This Commission may be expected here about December 10, on its way to Hongkong, Singapore and Colombo. The program will consist of conferences, lectures and public meetings; and these will be the subject of further announcement as soon as final arrangements can be made.

U.S. Court Issues Restraining Order

Minority Shareholder Given Injunction Against China Vehicle Company

Application was made before Judge Lobingier in the United States Court for China yesterday for an injunction restraining officers of the China Vehicle Company, Ltd., from performing any act tending to dissolve the company and from disposing of any of the company's assets.

The application was made by Mr. Paul M. Linebarger on behalf of Mr. Alexander U. Belyea, one of the stockholders. Mr. Linebarger argued that the company was a very prosperous one, operating some 600 richas in the Settlement and possessing other assets of considerable value. His client had been informed that he would be ousted if he did not sell out his interest and the present petition was based on the natural rights of the minority shareholder to court protection. A meeting had been held yesterday morning at which announcement had been made that the company would consider offers for the sale of the assets, therefore he asked a peremptory order.

Judge Lobingier entered an order restraining the officers of the company from disposing of its property, since it was shown that such a restraining order would work no hardship on the company.

A COMMON ERROR About the Digestion

Many people so far misunderstand the digestive system as to treat it like a machine; neglecting it until it works sluggishly, then irritating it into work again. The stomach needs help at times, but a study of the process of digestion will show that purgatives, as commonly taken, are seldom necessary.

To safeguard your digestion the diet must be controlled. Over-eating is always harmful, but one must assimilate enough food to supply the needs of the blood. Remember, the blood has to carry nourishment all over the body, and find fuel for its energy. Hence, when the blood becomes weak and fails to do its work, indigestion arises; also, when indigestion begins the blood suffers. Therefore, the treatment of indigestion demands something more effective than purgatives.

If you suffer from any form of indigestion choose your diet carefully and take wholesome nourishment. Above all, start building up your blood by taking a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Then, under the influence of the regenerated blood, your digestive system will respond naturally, your appetite will improve, and your food will do you good.

Digestive debility has often resulted from the use of purgatives, but only benefit can accrue from regenerating the blood. Begin Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now. You can obtain them of any dealer, or direct end post free, 1 bottle for $1.50, 6 bottles $8 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Film Play To Show Wonders Of Northwest

Memories of leaping trout, the sweet perfume of the pine forests and the fragrance of the wildflowers in the wondrous Northwest are revived to such an extent to the Far Eastern exile in the wonder-film "The Confession" that the graver—but not more serious—aspect of the play is in danger. But it is not lost for there is an appeal to the inherent religion of the normal man or woman that is not to be denied when this great photograph is presented.

That the show, which is to be offered at The Apollo Theater soon, is carefully produced is evidenced by the endorsements that have been given by Cardinals Gibbons and Mercier and by Archbishop Hanna of San Francisco, who have testified to the fidelity with which the Church features of the play were portrayed. A number of Shanghai Roman Catholics who witnessed the special performance at the Apollo yesterday added their eulogies to those of the representatives of the Church.

The story depicts a Catholic Priest who is ready to suffer torture, death and the loss of his loved ones rather than break the seal of the Confessional. In the part Henry Walthall presents a most convincing lead.

And the photography is wonderful. The locations are all that could be desired and the camera men have achieved fame.

McMILLIN OF CENTRE COLLEGE IS ONE OF BEST QUARTERBACKS DEVELOPED ON GRIDIRON OF U.S.

Captain Of Kentucky Eleven, Last Year A Unanimous Selection For All-America Eleven, Has Even Better Season; Sport Writers Laud His Work In Harvard Game

Bo McMillin, captain of the Center College football eleven, will go down in history as one of the greatest quarterbacks ever developed on the American gridiron. Last year he was chosen on Walter Camp's first All-America team and was selected by practically every sporting editor in the United States as the field general for mythical eleven.

This year he has played even greater football and critics who saw him handle his "praying parsons" in the game against Harvard unite in paying him the tribute: "America's greatest quarterback."

HARVARD VICTORY IMPRESSIVE

An article, written by Tom Thorpe, after the Harvard-Center game, not only shows what a remarkable player the Kentucky College had in McMillin but forecasts in a general way the showing of the big eleven in the later games of the season.

The article follows:

The football situation is cleared up as the results of the victories tallied by Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Cornell, West Point, Washington and Jefferson and Penn State. Each of these schools of learning triumphed over their respective rivals in a fashion which leaves little doubt of their superiority. Another week will no doubt bring about the elimination of more of the so-called big eleven. It is likely that by the time the final games are being staged a championship combination can be decided upon.

McMILLIN GREAT LEADER

The victory scored by Coach Bob Fisher's Harvard pupils over their Center College rivals was one of the most sensational in the annals of the game. Those who imagined that Charley Moran had an ordinary squad of footballers down at the Doubleville, Kentucky, seat of learning found themselves sadly mistaken after a couple of minutes of play. The Kentucky lads covered themselves with glory. While defeated by the tally of 31 to 14 they left the field with the respect of all who witnessed or took part in the memorable intercollegiate contest.

Charley Moran proved beyond any doubt that as a coach he must take his place with the best instructors of the game. His team was a well coached, smooth-running combination. They showed something in the open style game which caused the Harvard coaching staff much uneasiness. Their forward passing was the best uncovered in some seasons. It eclipsed the sensational passing of Jess Harper's Notre Dame eleven of 1914 by a wide margin.

The forty-five yard heave made by Captain Bo McMillin to Halfback Whitely, which accounted for a touchdown, was so cleanly played that even the occupants of the Crimson stands rose up and applauded, even though the score put the Kentuckians in the lead. Such evidence of fine playing is rare in these days of fumbles and missed signals.

McMILLIN IS WONDER

The leader that Kentucky sent up to act as standard-bearer lived up to the confidence that was placed in him. It has been our good fortune to witness the work of many of the great quarterbacks of the past twenty years. It is our pleasure to state that this gentlemanly, hard-playing Kentuckian is about as good a field general and all-around football player as we have ever seen under the sun. Bo McMillin is everything that the Southern gridiron critics have heralded him as being. His game against Harvard on Saturday last is sure to remain long in the memory of all who watched his fine playing.

It is seldom that one finds such a fine all-around field general such a sterling player. Many of our best Eastern quarterbacks have been noted for their ability to get everything possible out of their teammates in a hard game. Few have coupled with the ability to run with the ball and play on the defense. It is the combination of the two which causes us to become so enthusiastic over McMillin. He can run through the line with the pluck, worm his way along in a broken field, skirt an end, back up a rush line in as capable a manner as any present day player. His fine all-around playing was the big feature to Center College's fine showing.

In beating Center the Crimson eleven triumphed over a worthy rival. During the first half it took a little more than Harvard was able to give to outscore the Kentuckians. In that thirty minutes of sensational playing the Southerners displayed a brand of open attack that had the Cambridge collegians completely bewildered. After Captain Horween and his mates had the benefit of a few minutes of Instruction from Coach Fisher during the intermission they were able to return to the game and plug up the holes in their defense.

Had Harvard not been able to plug up these holes Center would have proved a very dangerous foe. As it was, just as soon as the "Crimson defense began to settle the attack which was strong from the very beginning of the contest, took on renewed strength. It has been seasons since any big eleven displayed a stronger attack than did Captain Horween and his Crimson mates in the second half of Saturday's struggle. Their work must have gladdened the heart of Bob Fisher and his able assistants. It speaks of great things to come later in the Princeton and Yale game.

HARVARD TEAM STRONG

By taking the measure of Center as they did the Cambridge lads have strengthened the faith of their supporters to such a point that it would not be surprising to find many Crimson followers offering odds on the Princeton and Yale contests. This does not mean by any means that any of the critics who witnessed the Center struggle left the stadium with the belief that Harvard would triumph over her old-time rivals. However, it does imply that Bob Fisher flashed a "squad of footballers who have great possibilities. Whether they are going to improve to the point of winning only the future can say.

Princeton proved to be a strong contender for the championship. Bill Roper's Nassau pupils trimmed a most formidable rival in taking Bob Folwell's midshipmen into camp. While it was known that Roper was saying little about his Tigers, yet it is a surprise to most critics that they could turn a 14 to 0 victory over their Annapolis rivals. The victory is sure to give the Juniors team the right sort of confidence to send them into the West Virginia game with every prospect of avenging themselves for last season's defeat.

TAD JONES TEAM

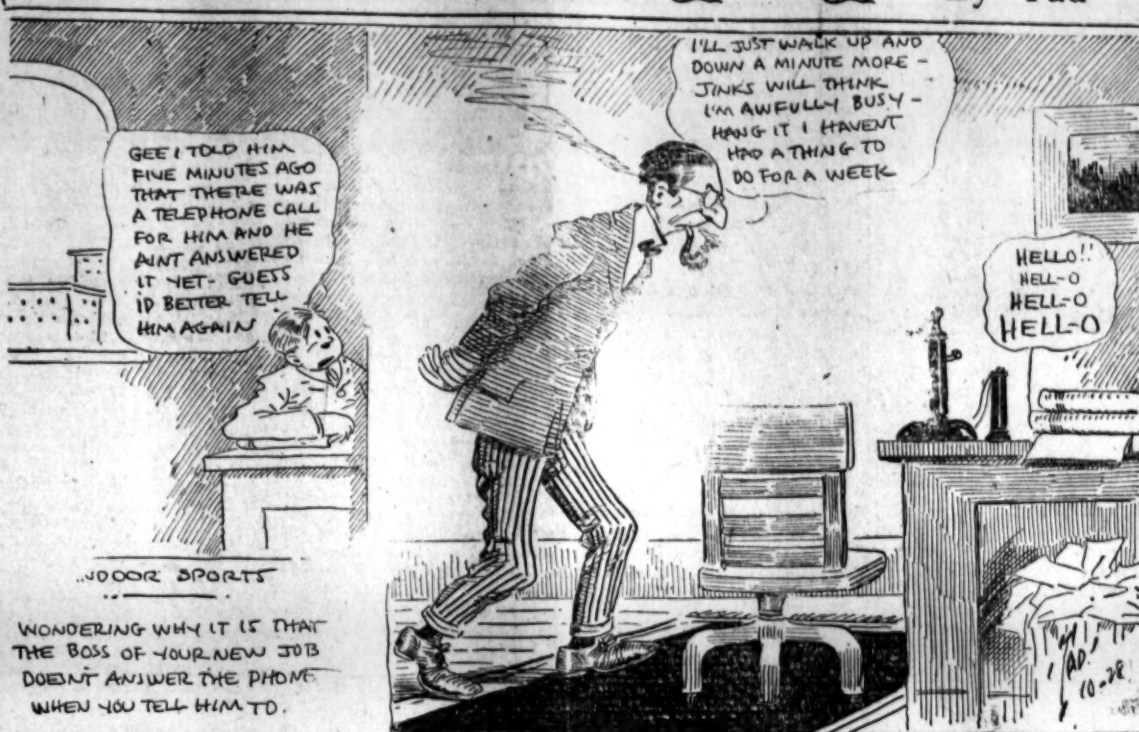

As was predicted Tad Jones brought his players out of the slump that they fell into during the Boston college contest. After beating West Virginia to the tune of 24 to 0 most critics at New Haven have laid away their hammers to sing the praises of a coach who brought victory to Eli Yale in 1916 by inculcating sound football principles into his gridiron pupils. By their victory on Saturday the New Havenites put themselves back into the football picture. Their victory was an indication of the real strength of Jones's pupils.

Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Cornell, West Point, Washington and Jefferson and Penn State each displayed unusual strength for this time in the season. The Salt City lads simply outplayed their Hanover rivals. Chick Meehan added another laurel wreath to his coaching crown. His pupils played sound football—the sort that would win in any company. That Speers' Dartmouth eleven fell before them is evidence of their strength rather than any signs of weakness on the part of the Hanover lads.

Pittsburgh proved a stronger foe than Georgia Tech anticipated. Coach Alexander gained the idea that his veteran backfield would prove equal to the task of outscoring Pop Warner's Panthers. However, other rivals have journeyed to Pittsburgh with the same idea in their minds. Most of them have left the Smoky City with a morsel of respect for Warner's ability as an instructor. Pop looks to have another one of his great teams.

WONDERING WHY IT IS THAT THE BOSS OF YOUR NEW JOB DOESN'T ANSWER THE PHONE WHEN YOU TELL HIM TO.

McCOY, FORMER BOXING MARVEL, WAS TRICKSTER

Used Strategy And Pallid Look To Lure Victims Toward Defeat

Continuing his series of observations on America's formerly great prize-fighters and how they are faring today, Charles F. Mathison recently wrote as follows in The New York Herald regarding Norman Selby, known in the ring as "Kid McCoy."

"McCoy still wears the same cold, sneering look on his pale face that his adversaries saw when they looked across the ring previous to a combat with the originator of the corker-punch. McCoy's pallid complexion also still gives the impression of ill health that deceived so many of his opponents when he was in his prime as a fighter. He looks today as he did on a memorable occasion in a Western town where he had been matched to fight the village champion, a burly, red-necked, heavily muscled chap.

"After one look at the pale, emaciated McCoy the village favorite declared that he would not fight as he did not desire to be locked up on a charge of manslaughter. Only after assurances from those acquainted with McCoy's boxing reputation did the local champion consent to go on with the bout.

"In less than a minute of the first round McCoy's right collided with his opponent's chin and the big chap crashed to the ring floor. When he was revived he declared he would dislike to box McCoy when the invalid regained his health.

McCoy's strategy

"McCoy was a strategist in and out of the ring, and the manner in which he tricked Tommy Ryan and defeated him at the Empire A. C. Maspath, (I.I.) March 2, 1896, has been the subject of much mirth.

"McCoy had been Ryan's sparring partner, and had, according to his belief, been handled with unnecessary roughness by the champion. Intent on revenge, he managed to get a match with Ryan, and while training assiduously himself, he wrote a number of letters to Ryan assuring him that he had no chance against the champion, and all he desired was a chance to earn some money.

"Ryan, disarmed, neglected his training, and was out of condition when he entered the ring, while McCoy was trained to the minute. McCoy outboxed Ryan throughout and stopped him in the eighteenth round.

THAT SHOESTRING YARN

"McCoy was matched with a behemoth named Herr Placke, and the bout took place in Philadelphia April 5, 1904. The nimble Kid had trouble in getting an opening in the first round, but in the second he called Placke's attention to the latter's shoe.

"It's untied," said McCoy.

Placke looked down toward his foot, and an instant later was toppling to the floor from a right to the jaw.

"When McCoy fought Tom Sharkey at the Lebox A. C. on January 10, 1899, the former introduced a novelty by using a steamer reclining chair in his corner, instead of the customary stool. Sharkey intimated that McCoy was quite apt to need the steamer chair. "He'll be seasick before the end of the voyage," said the sailor.

"As it was, McCoy nearly scuttled

Evers Goes Back To The Cubs Replaces Mitchell As Manager

BY DAMON RUNYON

Johnny Evers goes back to the Chicago Cubs as manager. If he runs to the form of ex-Giant coaches he ought to win the National League pennant in a couple of years.

Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson held the job Johnny is vacating. Pat Moran had it a few minutes before going on to Cincinnati, and a cynic might say the championship.

Bill Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs, announced that Johnny has been hired to take Fred Mitchell's place, and at the same time the Giants told the world that Johnny had been released.

Johnny was with the Giants most of last season, but somehow John never really looked familiar in a New York uniform.

He seemed to lack environment and atmosphere. He was like a cat in a new neighborhood. The first thing that happened to John when he came to New York was that John Heydler, president of the National League, warned John personally to keep a muffer on himself.

The New York crowds, his inveterate baseball foes up to the time he came to this town, were kind enough to him, but John probably felt that they liked him better as an enemy.

BIG HELP TO GIANTS

He bubbled over once or twice during his stay with the Giants. You cannot always keep a good conversationalist tongue tied. But in the main John was quiet and morose.

He was of great service to the Giants during the times McGraw was unable to be with the club for one reason or another. The Trojan demonstrated in these periods that he has improved his baseball leadership, and that he has got over those diamond brainstorms that marked his career as chief of the Cubs.

As a young fellow, and one of the greatest of the great players that surrounded Frank Chance, Johnny was one of the firebrands of the game. In fact, in those days no nips innings were considered regulation without an outburst from John.

The years have gone on since then. When Evers managed the Cubs he was still hotheaded and effervescent. He flared up at the slightest provocation. As a result his managerial career was not exactly a success.

As a member of George Stallings' famous world's championship Braves Johnny retained much of his old vivacity, but he was not quite as peppery as in the days when he fought the Giants and the umpires tooth and nail.

WORKED OVERSEAS

He spent a short time with the tattooed ship on the sailor's finished McCoy, who found the manly bosom, for he brought Sharkey down with a thud in the third round. But the sailor was too rugged to be kept down for the count of ten, and in the tenth round he

WILLIAM KEW WAS GUY WHO STARTED BILLIARDS GAME

And When You Call For The Chalk, Think Of Bill

Investigation into the popular game of billiards produces some queer history both as to the origin of the game and the methods used in manufacturing the paraphernalia.

It is said to have begun when William Kew, an English pawnbroker of the 16th century, passed idle moments by pushing about the three golden balls of his trade with a yardstick.

He soon gained considerable skill and the game became known in London as "Will's Yard," and this was corrupted to "Willyard," and then to "Billiard," and lastly to its present form.

CALLED STICK "KEW"

The players, seeking a name for the stick with which the balls were pushed about, called it after its originator, "Kew," the French after taking over the game, respelling it "que."

The ivory balls have to be seasoned for many months before they are ready for play, and manufacturers have incubators in which to store them, many of the latter holding as high as 3,000 balls.

THE "RED-COATS"

The deep-red color of the red balls is obtained by giving them what is known as the "guardsman's bath," a dipping into dye secured by boiling English soldier's red coats.

The finer tables used are built of Spanish mahogany, ebony or satin wood, and some of this has to be seasoned seven years before being used.

The green cloth was first used by Prince Leopold, and it is still known as "Prince Leopold green." It was selected as being less hard on the eye, under the bright light demanded for playing, than any other color.

THE FINEST OF THE FINE

The finest of the fine is the "The Green Cloth," which is still known as "Prince Leopold green." It was selected as being less hard on the eye, under the bright light demanded for playing, than any other color.

India To Enter Davis Cup Contest

(Reuter's Service)
Delhi, Nov. 29.—The committee of the All-India Lawn Tennis Association has decided to enter a team for the Davis Cup contest next year.

"On behalf of our compositors we tender apologies to those concerned for the statement appearing in our yesterday's issue under the heading of "Training Gallops" to the effect that there would be no "death" of jockeys at the forthcoming Race Meeting as there had always been at previous meetings.

"We are not aware that Hankow has been conspicuous for turf fatalities, and the word which our compositors intended to set was of course, "death."

McCoy, like Corbett, has become an actor, and fights furiously though ineffectively on the screen.

EIGHT SOCCER LEAGUE GAMES ARE SCHEDULED FOR SATURDAY; SCHOOL MATCHES YESTERDAY

One First-League And Seven Second-League Matches Carded, With Six On At The Race Course; St. Xavier's Senior Eleven Loses To Public School

With the Football Club playing the Police Recreation Club in the first league and seven second-league matches scheduled, local soccer followers will have their fill of the popular sport Saturday. In addition several friendly fixtures are to be played.

In the interscholastic league, the Public School seniors yesterday afternoon defeated St. Xavier's seniors by a score of 6-1. The St. Xavier's Juniors won from the Public School by a 4-2 score and a disputed point gave the St. Xavier's Middlets a 1-0 win over the Public School middlets.

The senior match evidenced the superiority of the Public School eleven both in play and team work. Each team scored one goal in the first half but the Public School tallied five times in the second. Johannsson scored four and Moosa netted one.

MIDDLET'S BATTLE

The St. Xavier's Juniors came through in the second half of their match and although the score stood two all at the half-way post, the Public School failed to tally again while the Saints netted a couple. The headmaster of the Public School refereed an excellent game.

The middlets staged a great battle and the lone goal that appeared on the score card was caused by a penalty which was protested.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

And now coming back to Saturday's games. Six of the matches are to be played at the Race Course and two at Hongkew Park. The Jewish Recreation Club and British-American Tobacco Company Recreation Club are to play at Hongkew Park where the game between the Customs and International is to be staged.

Ray Schalk Tells Why Catchers Make Managers

Ray Schalk, premier catcher of the White Sox, tells why catchers make good managers.

"It's like this," Ray said. "The catcher is back there running the game, calling for certain forms of pitching, and generally looking after things. The whole playing field is in front of him, and he can see what is going on all the time.

"You know a catcher has to hold up his pitcher, watch all the base runners, call for the kind of pitch that will best fool the batsman, and come in such manner that the batsman will have to play into the hands of the fielders.

"I suppose this training to do several things at once sharpens a catcher's senses, so when he becomes a manager he is all trained to take in the entire field at a glance. However, I have no ambition to become a manager."

THE MORETON MYSTERY

The Moreton Mystery. By Elizabeth Dejeans. Illustrated by W. H. D. Koerner. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

Not since the days of Anna Katharine Green has as well-handled a story of crime and detection as "The Moreton Mystery" been published. At last the chimerical world of Sax Rohmer and Cyrus Townsend Brady, with its subtleties (if they may be so called) of refined impossibilities and melodrama of thrills, has yielded to a murder story which is set upon the stage of realism. Miss Dejeans' book cannot fail to hold your attention if you are at all interested in modern conditions of life in the United States of America in the year 1918 A. D. as a background for real adventures which befall living and thinking human beings.

For mere power of composition and writing; that is, for expressing exactly what her story demands, the author is to be commended highly. Although the first chapter is "atmospheric" to a degree by reason of a heaping up of adjectives, Miss Dejeans confines herself to this one attempt. For the rest she gives complete pictures, physical and mental, of her characters, throws them together and allows them to evolve the plot through their relations with each other. Incidents are well chosen and are not too many to remove the suspense which carries the reader impetuously to a convincingly real and, what is more, a satisfactory and satisfying denouement.

Inasmuch as this is a book review and not entirely a story review, it will not be amiss to call attention to the illustrations of Mr. Koerner, which are decidedly above the average and which lend tone to the book. Mr. Koerner expresses with his brush the same qualities which Miss Dejeans expresses with her pen. It has been said that nowadays there is no news, all writing is propaganda. If there is a flaw in the armor of "The Moreton Mystery" it is the insistent crescendo upon loyalty to country. The carefully nurtured seed of nationalism can be seen sprouting, though the author screen it as well as she has done. But this fault of almost making what should be an entertainment pure and simple an argument can be condoned in so well-handled a mystery story.

New Works Of Fiction

The Adventurous Lady. By J. C. Snaith. D. Appleton and Co. $2.

This latest and very delightful story by J. C. Snaith is not another "The Undeclared." It would indeed scarcely be fair to expect of any writer that he should give us two such books within the space of a couple of years; we are glad and grateful to have the one. Although a thoroughly modern novel, "The Adventurous Lady" is perhaps more nearly akin to the history of the delectable Araminta than to any other of Mr. Snaith's books—a social comedy, witty and amusing, light and sparkling as sunbeams, with this very long-drawn-out history of Norah Calfyn, alias "Dorothy Lonsdale" the girl from the famous Vanity Theater. Dorothy's father was the secretary of the Church of England Purify League, and the preposterous progenitor of nine children. He kept up a surreptitious establishment in Lauriston Mansions, as Dorothy later discovered, and also had a house on the Lonsdale Road, where he lived with his indefinite wife and their numerous children. Not far away from the Calfyns' house was the flat where Lily Haden lived with her mother. It was the influence of Mrs. Haden and of the people whom she met through Lily which decided Dorothy to go on the stage. Besides, she didn't like her home and its restrictions, and her father refused to recognise her engagement to Wilfred Curlew, the very poor young man with whom it pleased her to fancy herself in love.

Being marvelously beautiful, she had no difficulty whatever in procuring an engagement in the chorus of "Miss Elsie of Chelsea." Off she went on tour with Lily Haden and, of course, the inevitable Sylvia Scarlett, of whom Mr. Mackenzie seems never to tire. While the company was appearing in Oxford Dorothy became acquainted with the young Earl of Clarehaven, who promptly fell in love with her. Quickly promoted from the touring company to the stage of the Vanity Theater itself, she presently made a hit with a song called "Dolly and Her Collo." Meanwhile she had gone to live with Olive Fanshawe, another Vanity girl, in her charming flat on Halfmoon Street, the rent and upkeep of which were provided by a philanthropic "great man," who only wanted "to have a place where he can lunch quietly sometimes or have tea and forget the cares of grandeur." Clarehaven later reappeared, and after a time offered to give Dorothy a flat of her own. But she, whose object might be defined as strictly matrimonial, refused this proposal with due scorn. So cleverly, indeed, did she play her cards that at last not only the Earl but his mother, who was a daughter of Lord Chatfield, begged her to be so very kind as to become the Countess of Clarehaven. Which she did.

But becoming Countess of Clarehaven and living in the beautiful old family place in Devonshire had a most remarkable effect upon the formerly hard and selfish "Vanity Girl." She did everything she could to persuade her husband to live on his estates and attend to his duties, and every one, from the Dowager Countess down, adored her. But the Earl of Clarehaven did not like the country, had no sympathy with his wife's desire to sever all her connections with the stage, and was deeply imbued with an inherited passion for gambling. First at cards and then through horse racing he managed to lose all his money, and even Clarehaven itself. His evil genius was one Lionel Houston, an enormously rich Jew, whose real name was Leopold Hausberg, and who had long been in love with Dorothy. This person led the very silly Earl on and on, until he had nothing left except his wife—a process described with an immense amount of detail. The whole difficult

THE VANITY GIRL
The Vanity Girl. By Compton Mackenzie. Harper and Brothers. $2.

The musical comedy stage and the doings of the young women who disport themselves thereon seem to have a lure for Mr. Compton Mackenzie which he finds it almost if not quite impossible to resist. And although in his very clever and very amusing story of the "Poor Relations" he escaped for a while from their fascinations, he returns to them again with this very long-drawn-out history of Norah Calfyn, alias "Dorothy Lonsdale" the girl from the famous Vanity Theater. Dorothy's father was the secretary of the Church of England Purify League, and the preposterous progenitor of nine children. He kept up a surreptitious establishment in Lauriston Mansions, as Dorothy later discovered, and also had a house on the Lonsdale Road, where he lived with his indefinite wife and their numerous children. This person led the very silly Earl on and on, until he had nothing left except his wife—a process described with an immense amount of detail. The whole difficult situation was suddenly brought to a close through the intervention of the war, which, by putting an end to the existence of the weak and self-indulgent Earl, left Dorothy free to save Clarehaven for her son by sacrificing herself on the matrimonial altar.

PIC

Pic: The Weapon Maker. By George Langford. Illustrated by the author. New York: Boni and Liveright.

In Pic, belonging to an extinct race of human beings who inhabited Western Europe thirty or forty thousand years ago, Mr. Langford has created a lovable, human creature for whose authenticity no less an authority than Henry Fairfield Osborn vouches in a brief introduction. Mr. Osborn stands on the premise that modern man could not have descended from a group of brutes, and so remarkable is the characterisation of Pic that even in his crudest moments there is something quaint and lovable about him, and the reader feels much the same affection for him that his two friends, the Hairy Mammoth and the Woolly Rhinoceros, retain to the end of the book.

The first glimpse of Pic speaks for itself, and the author's description gives the atmosphere of the book in a few words as the Mammoth and the Rhinoceros come across him in the cave where they have gone, at the best of the other animals, to kill the Cave Lion.

The stranger was about five feet tall. He sat, or rather squatted, thigh on heels with knees apart, devoting his entire attention to some peculiar task. In his right hand he held a large granite pebble with which he repeatedly struck a flint-flake held in his left. At every stroke, the chips flew about his ears beneath the blow of the hammer stone.

To the Mammoth, the performance was more puzzling than the performer himself. He had seen cavemen before but never at such close range. "Odd creatures these Troglodites," he whispered. "See how he sits on his hind legs and uses the front ones—just like a squirrel."

The animals grow tired of watching, and when Pic throws the flint away, striking the Mammoth's trunk, the animal gives a squeak which betrays his presence.

Then the something that is different happens: Pic smiles. Beasts never more than snarled and showed their teeth; and in their hideous mouthings was none of the joy and sunshine which now softened that friendly face. The smile was a revelation. Both the Mammoth and the Rhinoceros unconsciously felt its warmth. Unkind thoughts were for the moment cast aside. After much effort, they dragged their great bodies up the steep face of the terrace. Seeing that the two beasts were peacefully inclined, the Cave Man stepped back and permitted them a foothold upon the rock platform.

A great friendship is cemented between the three, the Mammoth and the Rhinoceros, whose names are, respectively, Hairy and Wull.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

STATEMENT GIVES PASSENGER TOTAL ACROSS PACIFIC

Sixty-four Percent Of All Who Came To Far East In Six Months American

Interesting figures on the percentage of passengers carried across the Pacific by ships under various flags are given in a compilation made by the Foreign Trade Bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

According to a statement made at the Bureau the various lines during the six months from April to September, 1919, the period used for comparative purposes, did a trans-Pacific passenger business was as follows:

passengers
Canadian Pacific Ocean Service, Ltd.	2,393
Toyo Kisen Kaisha	2,700
Nippon Yusen Kaisha	1,400
Omaka Shosen Kaisha	200
China Mail Steamship Co.	900
Pacific Mail Steamship Co.	690

Total 8,783

It is seen that Japanese vessels carried 4,300 first-class passengers; British, 2,393; and American, 1,590. The approximate percentage of nationalities of passengers are: American, 64 percent; British, French, Dutch and Russian, 17 percent; Japanese 7 percent; and Chinese, 12 percent.

Of this list the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, the China Mail and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company call from San Francisco while the balance sail from the northern ports, Seattle or Vancouver or both.

March 1, the Pacific Steamship Company will start its first 535-foot passenger liner, flying the American flag on its Oriental run. With five of these Shipping Board passenger ships sailing from Seattle greater business will come to the Northern gateway because it is closer by rail to New York, Chicago and centers of population than San Francisco, and also 302 miles nearer Hongkong, 476 miles nearer Manila, and 273 miles nearer Yokohama than San Francisco, when passenger ships from that port go to Far Eastern ports by way of Honolulu, which advantage in distance enjoyed by Seattle is 1,373 miles to Yokohama and 1,486 miles to Vladivostok, with considerable advantage to the Philippines and China.

ENVOYS CONSIDER UNIFICATION OF CHINA NOMINAL

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 27.—Following the promulgation of the reunification mandate, the Chinese Government approached the diplomatic corps, suggesting the release to it of the portion of Customs and Salt Tax surplus which have been retained as appertaining to the Southern independent provinces. The request of the Government was unanimously turned down by the Ministers on the grounds that the reunification of these provinces with the North is merely nominal and not actual.

The Chinese Government has now reported its request through the dean of the diplomatic corps, explaining at the same time that the basis of the request has been misunderstood. This basis is stated to be not the recent reunification developments, but the fact that the money is wanted to assist in payment of interest on the Domestic bond issue of the First Year of the Republic, the responsibility for which loan, it is contended, is shared equally by the Southern and the Northern provinces, inasmuch as the country was a unit at the time of its flotation. This interest is due at the end of the year.

Several of the Legations are reported to regard this argument favorably, although there is a rumor that it will fall to win over one or two of the Legations.

PHASE OF BRITISH LEGAL SYSTEM IS BEING DISCUSSED

Point Is Whether To Abolish Dominions' Rights To Privy Council Appeals

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 29.—An interesting juridical controversy as regards the desirability of maintaining the right of appeal from the Dominions to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has been raised by a statement by Lord Cave, who, on his recent return from Canada, stated that the feeling in Canada was generally in favor of retention of this right. This opinion has been challenged in one Canadian quarter, but is supported by the Associated Boards of Trade of Ontario.

Sir Percival Lawrence, who for many years up to 1913 was a judge in South Africa, in a letter to the Times, now points out that the view of objectors is perhaps open to a qualification. He recalls that during a visit he paid to Canada at the request of the late Sir Starr Jameson at the time of the "closer union" movement in South Africa, in order to study the British North America Act, the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier told him that several of his Ministers of Justice had entertained different views, but that he, personally, favored the retention of the right to resort to the Privy Council. He also furnished an example of the value of this right in connection with a certain religious case.

Since that visit Sir Percival Lawrence considers that various circumstances have doubtless tended to strengthen the opposing view. He refers to the opinion expressed by Sir Robert Borden (the Canadian Premier) at the Imperial Conference of 1918 as probably accurately representing the later trend of opinion.

Sir Percival Lawrence mentions the provisions of the Constitution Acts of Australia and South Africa dealing with the question of appeals. He thinks the objection to appealing to the Privy Council on the ground of expense, and that it is liable to be abused by a wealthy corporation, might be mitigated by providing that the appellant shall undertake to defray the costs of appeal, whatever the result, or by allowing solicitor and client taxed costs to the respondent if the appeal fails.

He believes that the delays incidental to such appeals have been substantially overcome in recent years, but these are mainly attributable to the parties themselves or to special circumstances, as for example the action of the Crown in the British South Africa Company's claim.

A further objection was that the Judicial Committee's decision had been given on a comparatively subordinate point, where both parties desired a decision on broader grounds.

Sir Percival Lawrence believes that the Judicial Committee constitutes one of the links that still weld the nations of the British Empire together, and he would greatly regret the severance of such a link.

Russian Concerts

The musical section of the Russian Democratic Club has undertaken to organize a series of concerts dedicated to the greatest Russian composers.

The first concert, which will be given Saturday night at the Masonic Hall, is dedicated to the works of P. I. Tchaikovsky.

Tchaikovsky is one of the greatest Russian composers, the most famous and national musical genius of Russia and the most popular of Russian composers abroad. To his pen belong the famous operas "Eugen Onegin," "The Queen of Spades," "The Maid of the Inn," as well as several other operas, symphonies, many songs and other musical works.

The program will consist exclusively of Tchaikovsky's works. Among others the following numbers will be performed: Sonata, op. 37, (part I), Berceuse, Meditation, Concert for violin (part I), Autumn song, Humoresque, Romance "Night," Serenade Melancholic, Trio—"To the memory of a great artist."

CHARGES AIMED AT ANFU CHIEFS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 1.—The High Court in Peking has found sufficient evidence to frame charges of embezzlement, misappropriation of public funds, bribery, etc., against Chen Yu-chuan, Li Shih-hao, Ting Shih-yun and other Anfuites. The charges will be officially published shortly.

PAN FU FORMING CHINA GROUP IN NEW CONSORTIUM

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 27.—Vice-Minister of Finance Pan Fu, who is now closely associated with the Old Communications Party (Chiaotong Party)—of which Liang Shih-yi, Minister of Communications, Yeh Kung-cho and Minister of Finance Chow Tze-chi are the leading representatives—has been at work for the past three or four weeks on the formation of a Chinese Banking Group for the financing of the Government. The plan for such a group originated when it became clear that the New Consortium, in contrast to the Old Consortium, really meant to enforce its terms, a state of affairs that would have been unpleasant for the Chinese officials and unpopular with the Chinese people, which feels, rightly or wrongly, that these terms are exorbitant and unfair to China.

Peking officials connected with the formation of the proposed Chinese Group fear, however, that the Chinese bankers—even if they can be induced to form a local consortium—may not be able to raise sufficient funds to meet the urgent requirements of the Government. Hence Vice-Minister Pan Fu and his colleagues, considering it a wise policy to have two strings to their bow, intend at the same time to conduct further negotiations with the New Consortium for the purpose of persuading the Four Power Group to consent to a modification either of its terms or of the manner in which these terms will be put into practice.

The plan of Pan Fu and those who are supporting him is, then, briefly this: If they are successful in organizing the proposed Chinese Consortium and obtaining from it sufficient funds for the conduct of the Government's affairs they will drop all negotiations with the Four Power Group and depend solely on Chinese financing. If, on the other hand, the Chinese bankers fail to come up to the financial expectations of the Government an attempt will be made to borrow what China requires from the bankers of the New Consortium, provided that these bankers are prepared to accept a modification of their terms as now understood by China.

It is to negotiate such a modification of the New Consortium's terms that Chu Chieh-shen, former northern chief delegate at the Shanghai Peace Conference and a leading member of the Old Communications Party, has been appointed as a Special Delegate of the Chinese Government to visit America and Europe. Mr. Chu, who received this appointment at the recommendation

Terrible Wound from Abdomen to Hip

Our portrait is of Mrs. M. MACE, of 97, Brentell Lane, Stourbridge, England, who writes:
"For 8 years I suffered with a terrible wound stretching from the abdomen to the right hip; during that time I tried doctors and patent medicines innumerable, but without success. At last I was persuaded to try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and after taking the first bottle began to feel better. After the second bottle the wound began to heal, and after the third bottle it was completely healed. I am now in perfect health and can do all my usual work. I am happy to say that there has been no recurrence of my complaint and consider my case a very satisfactory cure."
CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Scabies, Gout, Rheumatoid and free from anything injurious.

Kyoto Socialists Clash With Police

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kyoto, Dec. 1.—The trooping season occasioned a rather lively conflict between the police and Socialists yesterday, when the latter held a demonstration in honor of Mr. Takayama, who is the local secretary of the Yu Ai Kai Labor organization.

Mr. Takayama, having served a term of conscription in the Army, returned yesterday to Kyoto. In welcoming him a number of streamers were used one of which bore the inscription "out of penitentiary."

The suggestion that military service was a form of penal servitude enraged the police, who proceeded to suppress the flag. A free fight ensued, in which some slight casualties were caused. Some Socialists were arrested.

Peking, Dec. 1.—It is semi-officially reported that some progress is being made in the negotiations between Liu Ching-jen, of the Wuchiao, and M. Yourin, the Russian delegate.

The latter has had a private interview with Dr. W. W. Yen, but has not yet succeeded in obtaining an official interview.

Safeguarding Of Russian Interests Ordered By Peking

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 1.—A Mandate is being issued this afternoon which refers to the suspension of the official position of the Russian Legation and consulates in China. It expresses the fear that some local authorities may not have carried out the instructions regarding the safeguarding of peaceful Russian residents with sufficient zeal.

The Mandate accordingly orders local military and civil authorities to direct their troops and police to protect Russians living in China as they did formerly.

Peking, Dec. 1.—It is semi-officially reported that some progress is being made in the negotiations between Liu Ching-jen, of the Wuchiao, and M. Yourin, the Russian delegate.

The latter has had a private interview with Dr. W. W. Yen, but has not yet succeeded in obtaining an official interview.

MANDATE ISSUED

Constantine

REUTER brings the following from Paris: "It is understood that the British Government is convinced of the impossibility of preventing the return of ex-King Constantine to the throne of Greece, but considers it necessary to exact substantial guarantees from him."

A competent German aviator doubtless will be engaged to transport Constantine from Switzerland to Athens. This probably will occur between now and the time the League of Nations concludes its sessions.

After that but little will remain to be done. The German people probably will vote for the recall of the Kaiser or the Crown Prince to the throne of Germany, although this is forbidden by the terms of the Treaty of Peace. Still if the Germans want the Hohenzollerns—? Self-determination, you know, and all that.

And Enver Pasha, we note, has left Berlin for Turkey.

Everything no doubt will be put back where it was before the war and everything will be all right—excepting 10,000,000 dead soldiers.

30,000,000 crippled soldiers.

5,000,000 babies starved to death.

10,000 ruined cities and towns.

20,000,000 tons of shipping sunk.

$300,000,000,000 war debts.

And Bolshevism, widows and orphans, lack of coal, lack of food, lack of homes, world-madness.

And Constantine!

Evils Of Early Rising

Gladstone might well figure in the list of famous men who disliked the practice of early rising. "I hate getting up in the morning," he once told Sir Henry Lucy, "and I hate it the same every morning. But one can do everything by habit, and when I have had my seven hours' sleep I get up."

Li Hung-chang held the same views. At the close of his visit to Petrograd in 1896 the Chinese statesman wrote in his diary: "I have learned that we start early to-morrow morning. This is not to my taste. I would much prefer to begin the journey now and sleep on the train. To arise so early in the morning seems to be a foolish Western practice—foolish especially among statesmen, who could so much better transact their affairs at night, when all is quiet and the mind is most alert. But from all I can learn these statesmen and lawgivers look for their pleasures at night, going to banquets, theaters, and parties. To this I attribute much of the intrigue known to all these courts. Women cannot enter the council chamber or make speeches in Parliament, but they work their wiles at the parties and operas."

E. V. Lucas has also written against early rising. "The day rightly begins after breakfast. Now and then, for worthy purposes, such as bathing in a Thames backwater or intercepting the postman, early rising is desirable. But in the main it leads to self-conceit, intolerance, and dulness after dinner. The old poet was right:

When the morning riseth red,
Rise not though, keep the bed;
When the dawn is dull and gray,
Sleep is still the better way.
Beasts are up betimes! But then
They are beasts, and we are men.

[—Manchester Guardian.]

MOMENTS

I never thought a moment would arrive,
When prices rose and made my banknotes flutter—
And I my bread maskee how hard I strive,
Can't butter!

I never thought the moment we would scan,
When wine, that maketh heart of man so merry,
Would disappear and in its place—logan—
Berry!

I never thought the moment we would fill
By reading in the news about our better,
Or writing to the papers day by day all—
Ly letters!

"Marriage is a tie, but then so is the relationship that exists between a tin can and a dog's tail," said Mr. Jiggs.

"You never can tell. The wee sma' hours may develop some pretty big things," said the Scot after the ball.

"The stingiest woman in the world is the one who can keep a secret," said the blonde young lady at a five o'clock tea party.

ADVICE TO GIRLS
Now this is all the result of reading letters in the papers about bachelors, illusive and otherwise. I am so far advanced in this world's journey, and the silver threads are rapidly taking the place of the jet ones, and I have always been so very interested in girls—just because they are always so polite and never, never, never say anything unkind about anyone except their best friend, and man—that I am going to give you this advice quite freely and for nothing at all.

In the first place, girls, avoid a man who puts off shaving till the evening. Such a one cannot be relied upon to bring you the early cup of tea when the cook is at the market and the boy has overslept himself.

Do your utmost to encourage the advances of a man with a stern, strong face. He is almost certain to be a cinema actor and therefore, enormously wealthy. But do not be too easily captivated by a bold, open eye. It may be a glass one.

Beware of the man who talks a lot about his future. Make a few enquiries about his past.

Always refuse a man who raves about the joys of a quiet cottage in the country. He merely wants to get you away from the shops.

Have nothing to do with men with long drooping moustaches. They are symbols of a blameless youth, a morose maturity, and a cantankerous old age. Besides which they tickle.

Beware of the man who tells you that he likes you best in your old clothes. He is a delightful man but a mean husband.

(Abstract apologies to Dudley Clark.)

And don't let the following paragraphs in any way deter you from choosing the right young man, who is sure to be the exception.

DIVORCE DIVERSIONS
["Abe Karl, of Brooklyn, has begun a suit for divorce alleging that his wife Rose, after 20 years of peaceful married life, dyed her hair a bright red and sought the society of other men."]

If we had a special correspondent, we feel sure he would cable us some further choice news items coming under his observation in the land of Freedom and Prohibition, as follows:

Soth Z. Pilkington, of Chicago, after a life well spent in the conversion of waste oil from the canned pork factories into pie for negroes, broke into verse the other day and sought the society of Editors. His wife has taken the advice of the reporters, and will ask for a divorce.

An agitated citizen of Omaha rushed into the office of a local lawyer last week to seek advice concerning his daughter. "She is a desperately plain girl, like her poor dear mother was, but she thinks of nothing but becoming a cinema actress, and I want her to remain respectable." "Get busy with your fists," replied the legal gentleman, looking up from the O. Henry novel he was reading. "Give her a fat-eye and a bosky smell-piece. That'll put the receipt stamp on her histrionical agitations." "Pity it wasn't my wife," said his client. "Then I could have got a divorce."

A peculiar case opened today at New Orleans. Sam Brown, an ex-officer of the army, seeking a divorce from his wife on the ground that all their children came in the form of triples and twins. "With the present high cost of living—" he exclaimed, when the Judge cut him short. "Guess it's not a Divorce but a Trade Union for you, bo'. If it's just limitation of output you want!"

Bertrand Russell's Lectures At Changsha

(Central China Post)

The four lectures of Prof. Bertrand Russell at Changsha were respectively devoted to

"The Idea of Bolshevism," "Personal Incidents in Russia," including interviews with Lenin, Trotsky and others; "The Labor Failures of Bolshevism;" and "Necessary Elements for Successful Communism."

In the first lecture, a frankly Socialist position was taken up in the introductory remarks. Capitalism was assumed to be bankrupt in everything but mere money. The distribution of wealth in western lands was asserted to be unjustifiable. The disillusionments of the War were dwelt on. For the defeated nations disillusion is unqualified for the victorious Allies, disillusion was hardly less complete, for they had failed to win one single moral gain on which they had set their mind. This had brought the nations of Europe face to face with a situation radically different from that of the pre-War days, in the particular matter of Capitalism and Socialism. Perhaps in such strongholds of Capitalism as Britain and America, Capitalism might hold on for another fifty years; in other lands it could hardly stand so long. Bolshevism is simply a Russian form of Communism. It needs to be regarded rather as a religion than as merely a political movement. Unless we can picture Lenin and his comrades as a modern counterpart of Mahomed and his soldiers, we shall fail to realize what Bolshevism means either to its believers or their enemies.

Marx is the acknowledged founder of the communist ideas which form the basis of Bolshevism. From this German revolutionary, who in 1848 had to leave his native land and then took up his residence in London whence he wrote and issued the series of books which expounded his revolutionaryism, three fundamental articles of the Bolshevism creed are derived.

(1) All matters—religious, political, scientific, artistic, or whatever other category they may belong to—are capable of expression in economic valuation. (2) Accumulation of capital is the inevitable trend of commercialism. The fact that Marx in the middle of last century could anticipate developments which took more than half a century to prove themselves as complete as he foresaw them, was instanced as a measure of Marx's intellectual power. (3) Most disputable at the same time most essential in the theory of Bolshevism was Class War. The interest of the capitalist employer and the laboring employed, so Marx held, must of necessity make each war upon the other.

After generations of repression and persecution, but nevertheless of secret "growth," Bolshevism burst forth and overthrew the overthrown of the Czarist government. The victorious Allies of the West and the victorious Bolshevists of the East faced each other and instantly and instinctively knew each other for enemies: neither would keep peace with the other. Bolshevism found itself obliged to wage civil war with opponents supplied with money and munitions by foreign enemies, who also carried out a blockade more detrimental to the success of Communism than the warfare which went on North, South, East and West.

Any state which attempts full Communism (which includes the sequestration of all money and repudiation of all public debts claimed by foreigners as well as home people) must expect to find its hand against every nation and every nation's hands against it. But in addition to the difficulties that Communism would find in any nation, its troubles in Russia were more multiplied than they would be in most lands. Marx claimed that advanced Capitalism was almost a necessary preliminary to the carrying out of his ideas. When, as in America, you have the combination of industries into trusts, so that for steel you must apply to one trust only, for oil to another etc., you have the stepping stone from which it is comparatively easy matter to step on to the goal of having all commerce and all property State owned. But Russia contains 85 percent of peasants whose aim was to have themselves, not the State, substituted for the former land-owners; and industry in a most crude undeveloped state. The Russian revolution has turned the peasant cultivators into peasant proprietors, but that has brought Communism no nearer—rather the reverse.

The close of the first lecture was a lofty exposition of Bolshevism aims and failures in the matter of propaganda. Coming to the conclusion that all capitalist governments were necessarily capitalist propagandists (how else account for the fact that American and British working men are not as a whole Communists?) the Bolshevists attempted to confine the Russians to Bolshevism. They would teach all school children Communism; they would allow only communist newspapers for working men or any body else to read; they would supply communist lectures for everybody to listen to. Their idea is: "Let everybody—speak nothing, hear nothing, write nothing and read nothing but Communism, and the end must be a nation of Communists."

We were told that enemies and friends of Bolshevism had alike distorted the state of affairs in Russia, the one by inventing crimes which had never been committed, the other by concealing crimes which had.

It was nonsense to imagine that you could not walk about the streets of Moscow without being robbed or perchance killed by some stray shot. Mr. Russell asserted that he knew hardly any other capital streets of which were so free from crime as are at the present day the streets of Moscow. On the other hand, the very sincerity of the Bolshevism leaders—a sincerity proved by their long continued endurance of persecution—led them, being Russian, to be utterly indifferent to what others called crimes or cruelty in their suppression of all opposition to Communism. It would have taxed the ablest advocates of Bolshevism to have put the Bolshevism case for alleged crimes more ably than did Mr. Russell—but after all excuses had been offered, he left them crimes, undefended, indefensible. The Pacificist had his say against Lenin and Trotsky as unmistakably as a few years earlier he had it against Kitchener and the Kaiser.

The second lecture was a fascinating account of what Mr. Russell had actually seen, and heard in Russia. The introduction told us how the Labor Deputation had to learn the different ideas which certain words and phrases which were used in Eng-

The Pacificist had his say against Lenin and Trotsky as unmistakably as a few years earlier he had it against Kitchener and the Kaiser.

The second lecture was a fascinating account of what Mr. Russell had actually seen, and heard in Russia. The introduction told us how the Labor Deputation had to learn the different ideas which certain words and phrases which were used in English papers to translate certain Russian words and phrases differently in interpretation. "Proletariat," "democracy" and other words were viewed from very different standpoints. The Bolshevists quite openly acknowledge that they are not "the people of Russia." Their work is to make the people Bolshevists. The Bolshevists are the 500,000 members of the former Communist societies amidst a population of 120,000,000. Note: the latter figure includes women and children, the former mostly men.) Not every working man is admissible into the ranks of the elite, only the intelligent—intelligence being defined after Sidney Smith's definition of orthodoxy as "my doxy."

The interview with Lenin was described at considerable length. Of all the distinguished men whom Mr. Russell had met "and that includes some four or five premiers of Great Britain," Lenin was the man who assumed less airs of greatness than any other. It seemed almost impossible to think that such a simple looking, simply dressed man in such a bare office with only one comfortable chair, which he offered to his guest, could really be the leader of a nation such as Russia. Yet his portrait appeared in every public building in the realm and he was everywhere regarded with the utmost veneration. It took some time to accustom oneself to the almost unexpected absence of all the usual concomitants of greatness not only in external matters but most of all in the manner and bearing of the great man himself. He was not averse to laughter—laughed heartily at the worthlessness of the paper money which he had given the peasants for food stuffs. The cheaper you can make money, the less people will want it. Touch, however, the economic valuation of all history, and you rouse the man himself. That is the world in which he lives and moves. There is neither smile nor laughter but a fiery prophet. Mr. Russell came to the conclusion that Lenin had not the slightest idea of liberty. He openly scoffed at the thought that anybody should be at liberty to give utterance to thoughts at variance with those of the Powers-that-be. The inevitable results of such autocracy were well exposed; it is impossible for men accustomed to wield such powers as these to retain leadership and also really communist opinions. The degrading effect of absolute power must affect Communists equally with any other kind of men.

From Lenin we turned to Trotsky. Here only did we get a bit of the interesting details which assuredly accompanied the whole

Are Men More Exact Now Than They Were In Columbus's Time?

Nobody knows when Columbus was born, or where. Nobody knows what he looked like: he may have been the thoughtful, smooth shaven man whose picture is in the Ministry of Marine at Madrid, or he may have been a bearded, piratical looking person. Nobody knows where he was buried. Nobody knows where Columbus landed. Even he never knew, except that it was on an island off what he believed to be Cathay.

"Isn't it strange?" says the schoolboy when he discovers how exact history is in regard to the Discoverer. But is it strange? Columbus had no stenographer, no typewriter, no duplicating machine. There was no copy-right office, no museum of natural history, where he could file his story. It is fortunate that Las Casas saw it and rewrote parts of it before it disappeared. There were comparatively few educated men at that time.

More than four centuries after Columbus's time a group of men met in France armed with all the instruments of exactness that Time has piled up. Geographers, cartographers, ethnologists, etymologists, clerks, secretaries, translators and interpreters swarmed about the statesmen. The clerk wrote many times the entire cost of the Columbus expedition.

And yet these exact modern wise men could not so word Article X of their Covenant that its meaning should be beyond shading. They could not put Article XXI into such English and such French that the translations must agree. They could not frame Article XXIII in words that would not invite controversy.

Looking at Versailles, old Christopher seems to have been rather an efficient cuss. He did get somewhere; and even if it wasn't just where he aimed, it was a good place and upward of a hundred million people bless him for the job he did. —New York Herald.

We do not need recipes for happiness so much as sense to appreciate what we have. The world is full of philosophies, religions, doctors, quacks, to instruct us how to be blissful. We eternally tinker with ourselves, trying a new medicine or a new faith to see if we cannot by hocus-pocus get what is already ours by fact. For we are happy most of the time, only we treat happiness as if it were a piece of cheese in the mouse trap of destiny.

Now, isn't a day with a dash of all these things a pretty good affair in itself? Think of it! A little love, a little play, a little learning, a little exercise, a little beauty, a little sense of the infinite, and a good deal of work! That one day is a whole life. If you die tonight, you've lived.

Diplomats' Liquor To Be Respected

Customs Service Recedes From Its Position After State
Department Protest

Washington, October 23 (Associated Press).—The Customs Service today receded from its position with respect to the importation of liquor by the diplomatic representatives of foreign countries.

Officials of the service said that not only could the diplomats themselves bring liquor into the country, but that liquor consigned to them on shipment would have to be admitted. Such consignments to diplomats already in the country, however, can be removed from the port only by a diplomat or a member of his household, it was held.

Conflict in the laws renders the Customs Service powerless to carry out the provisions of the Prohibition Enforcement act as far as foreign representatives are concerned, officials said. The enforcement act prohibits the importation of liquor, it was pointed out, but another law prohibits the holding of the person or belongings of a representative of a foreign country.

Customs officials still insist, however, that foreign representatives bringing liquor into the country are violating the law and they declare that where the fact of such importation is known the only recourse for them is to make a report of the case to the State Department, which, they say, is charged with the duty of handling violations of the law by foreign envoys, who are immune from civil action.

The State Department has publicly protested against the interference with the baggage of diplomats and it is believed that the new ruling by the Treasury Department will close the incident, which for a time threatened to result in a row between the departments.
